

Federal Indian reservations³⁴

A federal Indian reservation is an area of land reserved for a tribe or tribes under treaty or other agreement with the US, executive order, or federal statute or administrative action as permanent tribal homelands, and where the federal government holds title to the land in trust on behalf of the tribe. Approximately 56.2 million acres (approximately 2% of total US land area) are held in trust by the US for various Indian tribes and individuals. There are approximately 326 Indian land areas in the US administered as federal Indian reservations (i.e. reservations, pueblos, rancherias, missions, villages, communities, etc.). The largest is the 16 million-acre Navajo Nation Reservation located in Arizona, New Mexico, and Utah. The smallest is a 1.32-acre parcel in California where the Pit River Tribe's cemetery is located. Many of the smaller reservations are less than 1,000 acres.

International³⁵

We are not aware of a current aggregated source for land held by our Government outside of the US. However, the Department of Defense (DOD) reports on its overseas holdings. As of 2018, the DOD managed a worldwide real property portfolio that spanned 45 foreign countries, including 514 overseas sites:

- By country – Germany (194 sites), Japan (121 sites), and South Korea (83 sites) had the most sites by country;
- By service – 202 were for the Army, 166 for the Air Force, 123 for the Navy, and 23 for the Marine Corps; and
- By value – 430 had a replacement value of less than $1.102 billion each, 21 had a replacement value of equal to or more than $1.102 billion and less than $2.067 billion each, 24 had a replacement value of equal to or more than $2.067 billion each, and 39 had a replacement value of zero.

Item 3. Legal Proceedings

Our Government is subject to a variety of claims and suits that arise from time to time in the ordinary course of its operations. See Part II, Item 8. Financial Statements and Supplementary Data, Notes to financial statements, Note 18 – Contingencies for a discussion of these items.
